

Envirocare of Utah Sold to Investment Group led by Lindsay Goldberg

12/15/04

Khosrow B. Semnani, the sole shareholder of Envirocare of Utah, Inc., has entered into a purchase agreement to sell Envirocare to an investment group led by Lindsay Goldberg (LG) that includes Creamer Investments and several other local investors. It is expected the transaction will close in early 2005. At that time, Mr. Semnani and the new owners of Envirocare will hold a press conference to answer all questions related to this transaction.

About Lindsay Goldberg

LG is a New York based investment partnership that invests primarily in privately held businesses. LG has more than $2 billion of committed capital with a focus on acquiring well-managed businesses and actively helping to build long-term value. LG is a trusted and experienced partner with a successful track record of investing across a wide range of industries and helping companies fully meet their long-term potential.

About Creamer Investments

Creamer Investments was the operating partner of ECDC Environmental, LC and most recently ISG Resources, Inc., the largest recycler of coal combustion products in the United States.

All contacts should be directed to Tim Barney, Senior Vice-President, Envirocare. (801) 649-2000.